

Susanne Schneider is a consultant neurologist and Professor at the Ludwig Maximilians-University of Munich, Germany with broad clinical and academic experience and with a great passion for research into the pathophysiology of Movement Disorders. Following her studies at Freiburg University in Germany and her PhD at the UCL Queen Square Institute of Neurology in London, UK. she continued her keen research interest in clinically-applied genetics. She is the author of more than 160 papers and chapters and the Editor or Co-Editor of four books. She serves on the Editorial Board of several journals, amongst others of the new journal, Clinical Parkinsonism Related Disorders.